

Access Officers

Most Higher Education Institutions (HEI) have an Access Officer, who will be able to tell you what supports and services are available to you after you enter the institution. The Access Officer is normally the first port of call for mature students, and can offer guidance and assistance if a student is experiencing any difficulty. Support is also available for people with physical or learning disabilities. Access Officers can also be called Mature Student Officer or Disability Support Officer. If you or someone you know needs assistance and guidance while attending higher education, contact the Access Officer in your college
